TAX IDENTITY THEFT AWARENESS WEEK

Whether you are ready or not, tax identity thieves and IRS imposters are ready to take advantage holiday shopping, tax season and coronavirus concerns.

What is tax identity theft? It happens when someone uses your Social Security number to file a phony tax return and collect your refund. You may not find out it has happened until you try to file your real tax return and the IRS rejects it as a duplicate filing.

To start fighting tax identity theft right away, remember:

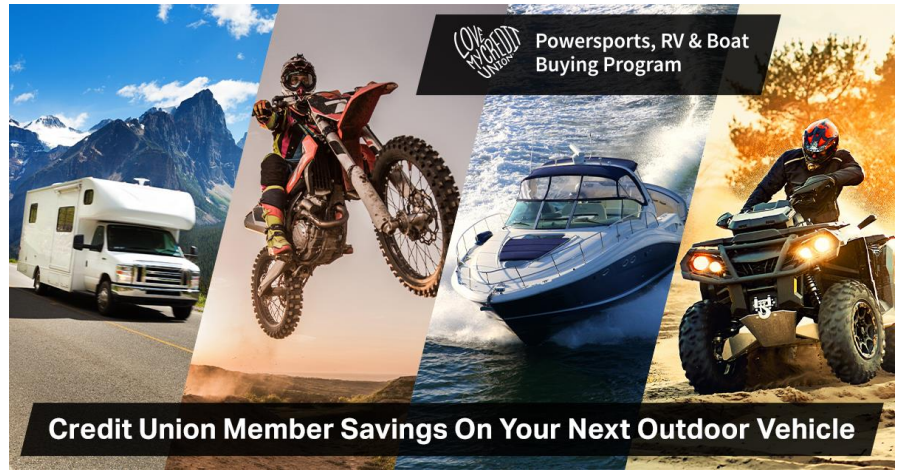

- Protect your SSN throughout the year. Don't give it out unless there's a good reason and you're sure who you're giving it to.
- File your tax return as early in the tax season as you can.
- Use a secure internet connection if you file electronically, or mail your tax return directly from the post office.
- Research a tax preparer thoroughly before you hand over personal information.
- Check your credit report at least once a year for free at annualcreditreport.com. Make sure no one has opened a new account in your name.

To find out more information on how to educate yourself, go to www.irs.gov.

Over the years we've helped our members buy cars, put children through college, save for a rainy day, and plan for retirement.

We're almost like a member of the family and we're hoping to be useful to you soon. Stop in!
