Summer Travel Tips

Summer it's a time to take that long-deserved vacation after months of cold and snowy weather. It's also a time for identity thieves to take advantage of vacationers. Your credit union wants you to enjoy your travels and keep your identity protected by sharing some tips:

- * Keep your travel plans and photos off social media until you return home. Also, turn off all location tracking to your smart phones and social media accounts. When you share information about leaving for a trip away from home, you're giving ID thieves an open invitation.
- * Place a hold on your mail or have a neighbor pick up your mail and packages.
- * Be careful using wireless Internet connections when it comes to financial or credit card information. Most public Wi-Fi networks are not secure and if your information is unencrypted during transmission, it can be intercepted. Use your cell phone's carrier service instead.
- * Limit the amount of credit cards you bring on your trip and instead of using debit, use credit when making a purchase. This detours prying eyes from getting your PIN number.
- * If you need cash from an ATM machine, go to one inside since you're in an unfamiliar place and not aware of your surroundings. If at all possible, use cash or get VISA gift cards from your credit union.
- * Keep all your receipts and travel information until you get home, then shred what is not needed.
- * When you return home, monitor your financial statements for a while to make sure no fraudulent activity has occurred.

Bon voyage and enjoy your summer travels!

Scams on the Rise

If you were looking for a way to send someone money, you were not alone in turning to a funds transfer app such as Cash App, Zelle, and Venmo. Popularity in these Peer-to-Peer Payment Platforms (P2P) has soared as many consumers sought contactless ways to send money to a friend, relative or people who they know and trust. P2P allows you to easily send money directly from your linked checking account. But scammers also find it to be an easy way to get access to your money.

Follow these do's and don'ts to help keep your money safe:

- * Do know that many P2P transactions are instantaneous payments and are irreversible. There are no legal remedies for getting your money back.
- * Don't send or receive payments from someone who you don't know or use P2P to purchase products.
- * Don't buy from an online retailer that requires payment via a P2P payment service; it's likely a scam.
- * Do protect your personal information by setting up security features when you link your checking account to a P2P. Create a personal identification number (PIN), use multi-factor authentication whenever possible, and set up email or text notifications so you can be made aware of any suspicious behavior.
- * Do triple check you are entering your recipient's correct email address, user name or phone number.
- * Do contact the mobile app provider to file a dispute if you think you have fallen victim to a scam.
