Experience "The Authentic Difference"
At Your Credit Union

Thursday, October 20, is International Credit Union Day, and this year's theme, "The Authentic Difference," highlights the international credit union operating principles. These are the nine fundamental truths that set a credit union apart from other financial institutions: A credit union is 2448-00 democratically controlled; with membership open to those specified in its charter and doesn't discriminate. It's financially stable, dedicated to serving its members and distributes profits to members, not just a few shareholders. Credit unions cooperative with other cooperatives, strive to be socially responsible and are committed to ongoing member education. Your credit union is not just a friendly place to borrow and save; it's these principles that differentiate us from a bank or a payday lender and why you belong at the credit union. So join in the celebration and experience "The Authentic Difference" the credit union can make in helping you secure your financial future.

Here We Grow Again - Thanks To You!

As a credit union member, you know the benefits of belonging - lower rates on loans, competitive rates on savings and friendly, caring service. 1248-00 we treat you like you own the place, because you do. As a financial cooperative, we exist only for one reason: to provide you, our valued member-owner, with products and services to help you reach your financial goals. Once we ensure we have strong reserves (our rainy day fund), any profits we earn don't go to outside stockholders. They are returned to you in the form of improved rates and better ways to deliver services to you.

So why not do yourself and others a favor and pass the word about joining the credit union? You'll do yourself a favor because as our membership grows, so does our capacity to provide the very best services. You'll do your friends and family a favor by introducing them to the credit union difference - a difference that can help them secure their financial futures. So share the benefits of belonging today. And thanks for being our member.
