Happy Birthday International Credit Union Day!

Thursday, October 18th is International Credit Union Day, and this year is the 70th anniversary of the celebration of the credit union difference. Since 1948, the third Thursday of October has been set aside to recognize the role credit unions play in improving the lives of their members. From Australia to Zimbabwe and everywhere in between, credit unions are marking this year's theme "Find Your Platinum Lining in Credit Unions". It's a day to look back, look around and look ahead as we honor our past, take stock of the present, and prepare for the future. It's also a great day to say "thank you" to you, our member-owners, for your participation in the credit union, your nonprofit financial cooperative. As you take advantage of all the benefits of belonging, you're not only helping yourself, but helping your fellow members. That's the reason credit unions exist, and that's worth celebrating.

the LAST Word Follow-through is the bridge between good planning and good results.
